Carmel Hill Professional Center Construction Begins

With the completion of ground-breaking ceremonies on Monday, April 9, construction of the Carmel Hill Professional Center is officially underway. Located on approximately five acres of the Del Monte Forest, this complex is adjacent to the Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula and Beverly Manor Convalescent Hospital, an extended care facility.

Participating in Monday's ceremonies were Monterey County Supervisor Willard Branson and Robert M. Barton, General Manager, Health Facility Developers, division of Kaiser Aetna, the developer/builder of the Center.

Taking his turn with the gold shovel, Supervisor Branson stated that "the Center will be an excellent facility for all the people of the Monterey Peninsula. It will provide, in effect, "one-stop medical service" by bringing the highest qualified medical personnel to the immediate vicinity of Community Hospital."

"We have made every attempt to design the Center to blend into the natural environment of the Forest," Barton explained. "The exterior will be rough-sawn cedar and the roof will be of tile. Also, the roofline has been kept below the existing tree level, so it will not be visible on the skyline."

The project is a cluster of four separate, two-story buildings which will provide 30,000 square feet for medical, dental offices and other related professional services. Construction is expected to take approximately six months at an estimated cost of over $1 million.

We have noticed that people are seriously reading our paper. That is good! We have had so many more people asking for back issues lately that we will have to keep a larger morgue in the future. It probably dawned on some of them that we had "something to say" beside crime statistics, poverty levels or who did what to whom and why.

By reading the paper they also see the advertisements. And believe it or not, they are beginning to patronize the people who place their ads in our good hands. We bow to you. Now if you just continue to tell them you saw it in our paper that will be the best compliment you could possibly give us. If per chance you see an item in the paper that is on sale at Star Auto Supply in Marina, and you can not make it over there that week, just give us a call. We go there three and four times a week and would be more than happy to pick it up for you. In fact it could be at any of the stores advertised in our paper. Try me and see.

On Friday the 13th, the Monterey Peninsula Christian Businessmen's Fellowship began distributing the New Testament to most of the motels in Seaside. The reason I haven't mentioned it before is because I wanted to seriously compare the new version with the old version. Word.

Recently my mother gave me an old Bible she could no longer use because of her eyes. It is the King James Version "Set Forth in 1611" and "Instituted in the Year 1816." Please don't ask me what that means, but it sure sounds old. Thumbing through it I found such handwritten notes as "Princess Elizabeth, April 22, aged 21," and "Princess Elizabeth married Nov. 20, 1947." (I would never have remembered that.) There is an address of a Mrs. Ada Thomas of Southampton, England. I must ask Mom if that is a relative

YWCA Is Awarded Full Status

When four delegates of the YWCA of the Monterey Peninsula attend the National Convention in San Diego this week, one of them will be Barbara Tappe, well known to the youth of the coastal cities for her expanded student program in the YWCA. She will accompany Mrs. Harold Parks, president; Miss Mary V. P'ch, executive director; and Mrs. Julian Rowe of Carmel Valley.

The major significance of the convention to the local branch, apart from the program on "Womanpower 'Work throughout the world," will be receiving the honor of becoming a full-fledged association here on the Peninsula, after three years in provisional status.

Speakers from Africa, India, Japan, Greece, Puerto Rico and South Africa will share their experiences in making YWCA a world-wide power in the advancement of women in all aspects of modern life.

In April, the YWCA of the Monterey Peninsula will resume a program of diversified activities, many of them for junior and senior high school girls, as well as adults. An announcement of the forthcoming schedule may be obtained by telephoning 373-1713, or visiting the YWCA office in the USO, Monterey.

CDC Likes Waldie For Governor

Nearly half of the delegates interviewed at the recent convention of the California Democratic Council (CDC) in Los Angeles in a poll taken by Albert Raeburn and Associates named Congressman Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., as the man they would "most like to see" win the 1974 Democratic gubernatorial nomination in California.

Waldie clearly outdistanced his nearest rivals in preferences expressed in a poll of one hundred CDC delegates termed by Raeburn and Associates "a scientific sample" of the 700 delegates at the convention.

Of those interviewed, 18 percent felt Waldie "has the best chance for the nomination," while 47 percent, or nearly half, said they would "most like to see" him be the nominee. The delegates polled also rated Waldie as the "best" at getting his message across at a "Hot Seat" dinner attended by 500 delegates at which the five gubernatorial contenders fielded questions.

Raeburn and Associates, a Berkeley-based polling and research organization, reported that those who ranked Waldie as "best saw him as "sincere," "thoughtful," and "serious."

Possibly significant, the opinions rating Waldie as having "the best chance" for the 1974 gubernatorial nomination were balanced, according to Raeburn and Associates, "between northern and southern delegates and also between men and women" the same pattern was evident among those who would "like to see" Waldie get the nomination.

In contrast, they reported, support for other contenders tended to be regionalized, though no breakdown was provided for two of the contenders.

The delegates sampled were representative of the "activists who do much of the volunteer campaign work for liberal Democratic candidates," Raeburn and Associates noted.

Though only 12 per cent of those polled preferred San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto as the nominee, they reported, the largest percentage, 40 per cent, felt he was the most likely nominee.

Support for Mayor Alioto, however, was concentrated among "Bay Area male delegates," they indicated. Of the remaining contenders, Waldie, Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., and State Sen. George Moscone were grouped closely together in the delegates' view of who had the "best chance" for the nomination. The figures showed Brown, 21 percent; Waldie, 18 percent; Moscone, 14 percent. Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti was seen to have the "best chance" by 7 percent.

In response to the question, "Who would you like to see win the nomination?" the results were Waldie, 47 percent, followed by Moscone, 25 percent, and Alioto, 12 percent. Brown and Moretti were favored by less than 10 percent.

The results of the poll were used by Mel Wax on KQED's Newsroom program.

Local Artist Works Shown At Ord Gallery

The new exhibit in the Fort Ord Arts & Crafts Shop Art Gallery #2 is the work of a young local artist.

Erin Gamble, whose mother is a painter, has been drawing pictures all her life. She graduated from high school in Sacramento where she first studied printmaking, before coming to Monterey Peninsula College to continue her art studies.

She includes woodcuts, etchings, watercolors, ink and pencil drawings among her many talents. The drawings are delightful fantasy from her own vivid imagination. Currently she is creating illustrations for a book by Toby Hiller Swartz of Carmel Valley, an adult fantasy titled "The Reign of the Jester King."

Erin Gamble makes her home at 1015 Hillside Ave, Pacific Grove, with her husband, a classical guitarist and one year old daughter Jennifer.

Who Make Lead In Play Chosen; Profits On Beef?

This question has been asked many times of late: "Since beef prices have increased so rapidly, who makes all the profit in the cattle business?" Let's take a look and see:

The complicated production process in getting a steer from birth to market involves four major categories. They are: (1) The cow-calf man or producer; (2) The cattle feeder; (3) The packer or wholesaler and; (4) The retailer.

The producer in California owns and leases ranges to run his cow herd. As such, he is a substantial taxpayer in support of schools, roads, and all the governmental process represents.

In California his investment per cow averages about $2,000, which includes land, equipment and cattle. Some, of course, are higher and some slightly lower. Annual costs to operate his ranch average $181 per cow, which includes taxes, labor, supplemental feed, interest, pasture and fees, breeding costs and miscellaneous expenses. He will wean about 80 calves per year from every 100 cows weighing 450 pounds each. On today's market, the calves would sell for about 55 cents per pound for a net return of $66.50 per calf. That represents a 3.4 percent return on his investment. This net return is a marked increase over the last 20 years. The net average return to the producer during the period 1951-71 was 1 1/2 percent.

The next step takes the calf from the ranch to a feedlot, where he will be fed grain for 200-220 days, the market weight steer will weigh 1,000 pounds. The 550 pounds gained costs $170.50 plus yardage, vaccination, branding, interest, etc. The net return to the cattle feeder will amount to $14.50, based on feed costs of 31¢ per pounds of gain. Some California Cattle Feeders have reported feed costs as high as 38¢ per pound gain, due to bad weather, mud, and increased grain costs. The feeders net return on his investment in cattle and feed (and excluding property equipment, etc.) is 3.3 percent.

The meat packer is next in line to become involved in the complicated marketing process. He purchases the 1,000 pound steer from the feed lot for 45¢ per pound, for a total of $450. His processing costs are $28.50; including labor, transportation, inspection, etc., making a total cost of $478.50. He sells the 600 pound carcass for 72¢ per pound, and the other 400 pounds of hide and offal and waste products for a total of $40, for a total gross income of $72.00. The packer's losses $6.50 per steer on today's market.

The last step is that of the retailer purchasing the 600 pound carcass. After cutting, boning, and trimming, he sells about 450 pounds of beef in retail cuts. His projections indicate a 1 percent net return. It should be pointed out that the retailer and packer operate on a small margin, but have a turnover every 8 to 10 days.

Donald J. Ross of Monterey has been chosen to play the name part of "King Richard III" the Shakespeare tragedy to be presented by the Forest Theater Guild during July. Ross played the part of Malvolio in "Twelfth Night" given last summer on the outdoor stage of Forest Theater in Carmel.

Loel Shuler of Pacific Grove will play the part of Queen Elizabeth; Betty Fowlston of Carmel that of Queen Margaret; Barbara Shuler, Lady Anne; and Carol Veazie of Carmel, Duchess of York. Loel and Barbara are being featured in the current production of "Electra" at the Forest Theater-in-the-Ground.

David Hughes will play the Duke of Buckingham; James Gofford, Lord Mayor of London; Bill Lewis, King Edward IV; Ramon Wilson, George, Duke of Clarence; and Jeff Hudelson, Lord Hastings. All are Carmelites.

Scott Bayless, Dennis Hamilton and Brink Harrison, all of Carmel, and Frank Favalora and Bill Wenger, both of Pacific Grove, will play other members of the nobility.

Charles Wold of Pacific Grove will play the first murderer; Adam Lembeck of Monterey, the second murderer and John Sullivan of Carmel, Sir Christian

Candidates To Speak At MPC

Eight candidates in the upcoming City of Monterey election will express their opinions during a Political Forum at Monterey Peninsula College between April 23 and May 3 at noon on each day.

Gordon Bloyer is a candidate for mayor and will speak April 23; Peter Coniglio, April 26; Leslie Dixon, April 30; and Dennis Mar, May 3. The city council candidates who will speak are: Lous Randolph, April 24; Gerald Fry, April 25; Alvin Andrus, May 1; and Frank Mairama, May 2.

Each talk will be presented in the Lower Fireplace Lounge of MPC's College Center. All of the city's candidates had been invited to speak at MPC before the May 8 election by the College Center Programs Board. For further information, contact Student Activities at 375-9821, ext. 333 or 326.

Oppose Permit

Washington (NBNS)--South African Airways has made application to the Civil Aeronautics Board for a regular flight route from Johannesburg to New York via the Cape Verde Islands. Several groups opposed to this country's race discrimination policies are challenging the application.

The CAB bureau counsel, Jerome B. Blum, filed a statement that the application should be considered in light of whether the airline complies with the 1964 Civil Rights Act which outlaws discrimination in employment and public accommodations.

Urswick, a priest.

Younger members of the cast will include Amy Vreeland of Monterey, Chip Lenno of Pacific Grove and David Shefik, John Watkins, Charles Houghton and Pat Kercheval, all of Carmel.

Several parts are still open for men between the ages of 20 and 50 according to the director. Charles Thomas. One of those needed is someone to play the part of the Cardinal. Those who wish to try out may come to rehearsals on Tuesdays and Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. They are held at Sunset Center, San Carlos at Ninth, in Carmel, in Room 7, the studio of Barbara West, speech coach.

New Mental Health Service Chief Named

Monterey County Director of Health Care Services, T.A. Kenan, has announced that George G. Westerman, MD, has been appointed Program chief of the Monterey County Mental Health Services by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors.

Dr. Westerman will replace Dr. Terence C. O'Meara who requested last October to be relieved of the administrative functions of program chief and to be reassigned as a staff psychiatrist so that he could devote his full time to professional duties associated with patient treatment.

Dr. Westerman, a native of Illinois, received his undergraduate training at Stanford University and attended Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania where he was awarded his M.D. degree in 1966.

Following his internship at Santa Barbara Cottage and General Hospitals in Santa Barbara, California, Dr. Westerman completed his psychiatric residency at Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute in San Francisco, California in June, 1970. Since completion of his residency program, Dr. Westerman has served as a staff psychiatrist at Contra Costa County Hospital in Martinez, California, San Francisco Veterans Administration Hospital, and Napa State Hospital in Imola, California. In January, 1972 her was appointed medical program director for the regionalized acute psychiatric program at Napa State Hospital. In this capacity, Dr. Westerman administered the program's activities and contacts with community mental health services in the counties his program served, and insured that his program achieved both broad and specific goals within established time frames and intent of legal statutes. As a program director at Napa State Hospital, Dr. Westerman had the opportunity to become familiar with the policies, procedures, and problems of community mental health programs and State Department of Mental Hygiene.

Nearly everyone at some time or another has thought how wonderful it would be to lead the life of a television celebrity - to be actively involved in what appears to be a fascinating and dynamic profession. Unfortunately, most of us are not on-camera material and we are not destined to become television stars. But the real workers, the ones who know what is going on in television are the ones behind-the-scenes, the ones never seen on camera. These are the production people; be they cameramen, directors, designers, producers, technicians, without them, no program would ever be seen. And, according to the Federal Government, career outlooks are pretty good for young men and women interested in a job in television-at least on the production side.

It's not an easy field to break into. Depending on the particular area of interest, it can mean a college degree in broadcasting or at least several years in a technical school. There is no on-the-job training in television. The beginning salaries are adequate, but persons with professional background and experience can expect to earn comfortable salaries.

If you are interested in learning the behind-camera operations in television, TV production specialist in TODAY'S ARMY is the place to begin. These young men and women, stationed at Army facilities around the world perform a variety of duties involved in the production of live and recorded television presentations for training, information, medical and morale purposes. They assist producers, directors and script writers in the preparation, selection and interpretation of scripts. They also help to design and erect sets, operate special effects devices, assist in rehearsals and telecasts, and every aspect of production required to get a program on the air.

And additionally, young production specialists learn all about television equipment and techniques, editing, the principles of script writing, makeup and programming. It's a comprehensive training program that TODAY'S ARMY offers and it's open to both men and women. And a career in television in TODAY'S ARMY can eventually mean training and future advancement to floorman (technical director), television production supervisor (producer) or other related occupations. Television stations are looking for young men and women who have proven professional background and experience. In TODAY'S ARMY, they can find all the training they could hope for. And they get it FREE.

If you have an interest in any occupational field leading to your career goal, let TODAY'S ARMY get you started. For more information please contact us at 431 Webster Street, Monterey, or call 372-4742/372-0553.

Moving East

Announcement has been made in Washington, D.C., by the Department of Defense that the Systems Development Agency, and Agency of the Defense Language Institute, based on the Presidio of Monterey, would be moved to Fort Monmouth, New Jersey beginning in April 1974. The move is scheduled to be completed by June 1975.

The move in no way will affect the West Coast Branch of DLI also based on the Presidio of Monterey.

The move by SDA will call for the transfer of five military and 75 civilian workers.

Vets Can

Correct

Errors

Veterans who find errors in their military records may have them corrected, according to J.E. Mullen, Director of San Francisco Veterans Administration Regional Office.

While some errors may seem trivial, correction of others could prove important, affecting eligibility for VA and other benefits.

Generally, a veteran is expected to file a request for correction within three years. Mullen noted, however, that this deadline may be waived in the interest of justice.

Mullen explained that a veteran, his survivors, or legal representative can file written applications for correction of records with the branch of service in which the veteran served.

Department of Defense forms, "Application for Correction of Military or Naval Records," are available at VA offices.

Fort Ord

Contracts

Announced

Two new contract awards for Fort Ord have been announced by Congressman Burt L. Talcott.

Awards for construction of a medical barracks and for brigade barracks consisting of concrete frames with masonry walls were approved this week by the Department of Army.

Contractor G.W. Davis of Watsonville will build the medical barracks, the contract award is in the amount of $1,168,951. The Daniels and House Construction Company of Monterey received the award to build the brigade barracks in the amount of $1,230,668.

Occupancy of the new facilities is expected by summer of 1974. Additional information will be available later this month from the Army.

FOR HELPING - Clint Porter accepts award on behalf of Seaside POST News-Sentinel from Air Force Sergeant Mike Simmons. Inscription on honor says "in appreciation of continued outstanding newspaper support to the United States Air Force Recruiting Service."

Race Driver To Aid Navy Recruiting

The Navy Recruiting Command and the Gene Mason Racing Team, in a joint press conference at the Naval Air Station, Alameda, California, have announced that Skip Barber, as a public service, is cooperating with the U. S. Navy in its recruiting effort to achieve an All Volunteer Force.

The youthful Harvard graduate, a fast-rising Formula 5000 race driver, is a strong believer in an all volunteer military service and, together with the Gene Mason Racing Team, will be assisting Navy recruiters across the country.

Beginning with the Laguna Seca race at Monterey, California on May 6, and throughout the L&M Championship auto racing series plus the U.S. Grand Prix, October 7, at Watkins Glen, New York, Barber will be working hand in hand with local Navy recruiters and the thousands of high school and college students that come to see high performance motor sports. In addition, the articulate Barber will be appearing in person with

King Media Center Dedication Is Set

King Junior High School's new $70,000 Multi-Media Center will be formally dedicated today (Wednesday) during the school's open house. Principal Bill DeBerry has announced.

As part of the dedication ceremony, the school will present to Seaside Mayor Joe Dolan a multi-media "textbook" describing that city's government. The project was completed by an eighth grade civics class and is an example of the way students can use the new center.

The center was developed with a grant from Title I, Phase II of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, along with funds provided by the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District. Helen Rucker, multi-media specialist who runs the center, said the grant was provided to develop an exemplary library program that can be used as a model by other school systems in the state.

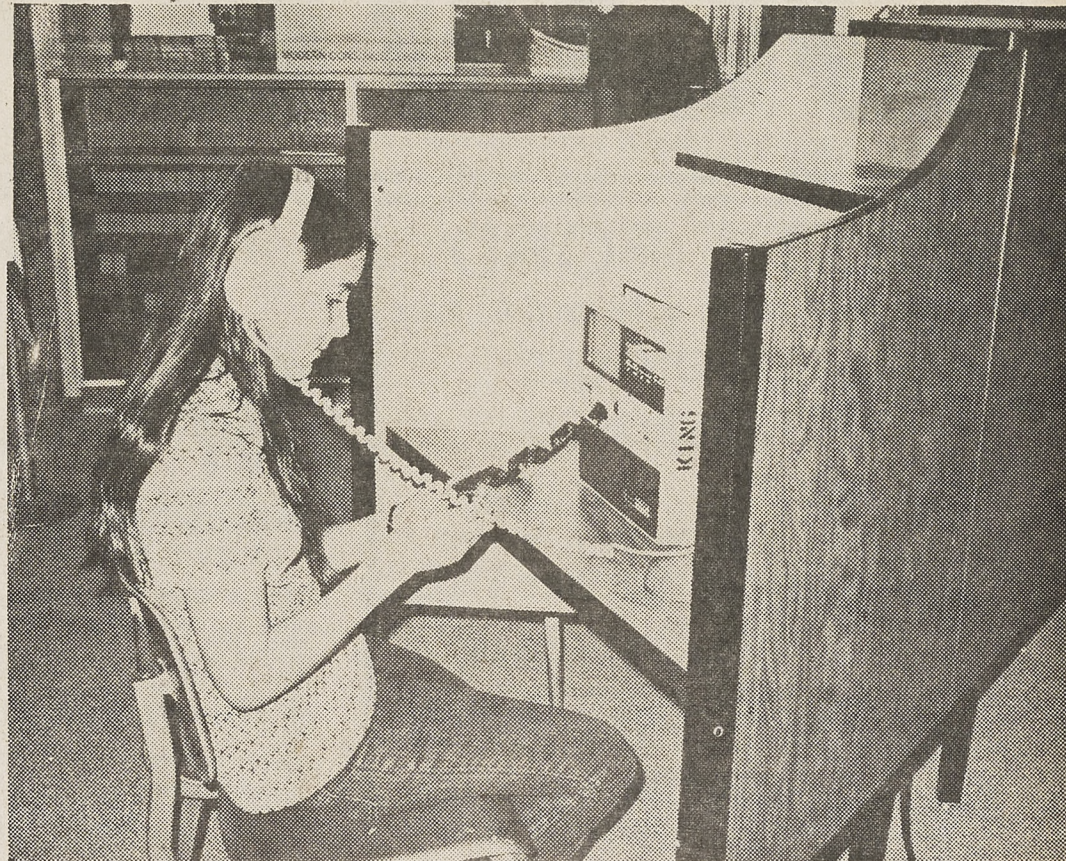

"It's designed primarily to provide alternative methods and materials for junior high school students," she explained. Emphasis is placed on giving students materials that will motivate, bridge learning gaps and offer new ways of learning, she said. The center is stocked with the latest in education technology—silent and sound film strips, cassettes, microfilm, maps, world globes, charts, study and art prints, slides and the machinery needed to use the material. Included in the material is a special "school collection" of New York Times editions, going back 100 years. In addition, Mrs. Rucker is building the center's book collection up to a ratio of 15 books per student.

Along with the book and "non-book" learning material, the center is equipped with individual study tables, each wired to handle the electronic equipment used by the students. The center also provides small rooms where single students or small groups can learn with electronic aids.

Mrs. Rucker said each department at the school has developed ways for students to use the center to supplement their classroom learnings.

Many teachers send their students to the center on a "contract" basis, Mrs. Rucker said. The students sign a contract with the teacher, agreeing to perform a certain amount of work or to complete a special learning project using the resources they find in the center. In the center, the students can work individually, taking responsibility for their own work.

In the case of the Seaside government "textbook," an entire class worked to complete a project. Eighth graders in Mrs. Judy Wyckoff's civics class found they were unable to correlate what they read in textbooks with Seaside's governmental structure. For example, their textbook made no mention of a mayor, although the students knew that a mayor presided over their city. So the class took a field trip to the city hall to learn about the community's government. This curiosity led the students to putting together a complete report on the city, using slides, tape recordings and transparencies to tell the Seaside "story." Each student in the class took part in the project, which in effect amounted to their writing their own textbook. The district's school board viewed the results when it met at Seaside High School last Monday. A copy of the multi-media package will be given to Mayor Dolan during the center dedication ceremonies.

PROGRESSIVE - One feature of King Junior High School's new Multi-Media Center is individual study tables, each wired to handle latest in electronic learning equipment.

District Supt. Allan J. Petersdorf will dedicate the center. Invited to attend the dedication program are Mayor Dolan and other Seaside officials, school board members, a representative from the State Department of Education, members of the school's parent advisory group and community groups. The dedication will take place in King's multi-purpose room at 7:30 p.m., following musical selections by the school band. After the ceremony, the public is invited to tour the Multi-Media Center. Members of the student human relations team will act as guides. At the same time, the school's camera club will be showing their 8 mm film documenting "life at the new King Junior High School" in Rooms A6 and A7.

This National YWCA Week

The YWCA of the Monterey Peninsula resumes, in National YWCA Week, April 23-30, its diversified offerings of community activities to all residents of the coastal cities.

For high school students, Barbara Tappe directs groups in drama, basic Yoga exercises, art and crafts, and for the still younger children, aged 3-5, there is Child Care on Wednesday mornings, while mothers are encouraged to attend "Slim and Trim" class.

Guitar instruction, arts and crafts, sewing, knitting, are also offered and a new group discussion led by Alison Huntress, under the heading "FREE TO BE FEMALE: exploring the roles of women." Topics will include The World of Work, Child Care, and the Impact of the Women's Liberation Movement. All women, aged 18 or over, are invited to attend, Tuesday evenings at 7:30, in the USO, Monterey, headquarters of the YWCA.

Goodwill Gets New Trucks Highway Projects Outlined

Goodwill Industries still finds answers to growing dreams. In building for the future there have been five 1973 Chevrolet trucks added on to facilitate operation of the service.

After a considerable delay of months these two and a half ton trucks finally arrived in Santa Cruz. Goodwill Industries would like to thank the communities for the generous donations which made the new truck fleet possible. They are still pledging for more donations and the public is asked to help the disabled.

The new vehicles are replacing 1961 and 1963 trucks. Goodwill cares and they are able to serve the handicapped people.

Highway Projects

Outlined

State highway construction projects needed in 58 California counties were outlined by the California Chamber of Commerce to the California Highway Commission recently in Sacramento.

Construction priorities established by citizen, professional and local government committees throughout California are used as the basis for the state's 1974-75 Highway Planning Program. Local chambers of commerce and district engineers joined with the California Chamber in sponsoring the preliminary meetings, held during September-October 1972.

Accepting the recommendations, commission chairman Winston Fuller termed local input "first item of importance in the planning process." He noted that 1973 marks the 44th year of community and chamber participation in the development of state highway plans.

Leading highway construction priorities established by the local committee for Monterey County are as follows: 1) Route 68 from Route 101 to Blanco Road; 2) Route 68 scenic highway from Reservation Road to Laureles Grade Road; 3) Route 1 scenic highway, Carpenter Street to Carmel River; 4) Route 1 from Fort Ord to Castroville; and 5) Route 101 overpass widening on Sherwood Drive in Salinas.

Fair Will Have Country Western Show

NOW APPEARING - Kay Austin and her band, "The Coyotes" will be featured opening night at Salinas Valley Fair, May 17. They will appear at 7:30 and 9 p.m. with the Ferlin Husky Country and Western Show.

Kay Austin—a girl on her way to the top—and her band, "The Coyotes" will present their brand of western and country music at the Salinas Valley Fair in King City on opening night, May 17.

They will appear with the Ferlin Husky Country and Western Show at 7:30 and 9 p.m. in the entertainment pavilion on the fairgrounds.

A native of Long Beach, Kay Austin has been singing and dancing nearly all her life. She began singing at fairs and social gatherings in Apple Valley after her family moved there when she was four years old.

Although she studied all forms of dance with Percy Venable, an old black dance master of a bygone era, Kay's heart remained with country music. Forming her own band, Kay began singing her way through military installations in the western United States.

The group later spent a year touring the hotel circuit while under contract to a leading hotel chain.

During a 36-week engagement at the C's in Long Beach, Kay was signed to co-star with Tex Williams on the new RFD Hollywood Show now in its second year on national television. She is currently performing at the Long Branch Steak House in Salinas.

Kay and her mother wrote the music and lyrics for her first recording, "Boulder City." A second record, "Lady Fool," was released in December.

The country and western show opening night is the only Salinas Valley Fair entertainment requiring an additional admission charge of $2.50. Kenneth Funk, entertainment chairman, states that all other entertainment during the four-day fair is included in the gate admission.

A's Yearbook Is On Sale

The World Champion Oakland A's announced that their 1973 Scorecard and Souvenir Yearbook is now available to their fans.

This colorful 80-page publication combines the scoresheet and rosters of a scorecard with the player stories, features and pictures of a yearbook. It includes four pages on the exciting five game A's-Tigers American League Championship Series a six page story on the A's thrilling seven game victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the World Series and several pages of photographs of the celebrations that followed the A's victory. The Scorecard-Yearbook contains a total of more than 200 pictures that help tell the story of the World Champions, including a full-color team photograph that is suitable for framing and a reproduction of the Sporting News front page picture that announced Charles O. Finley's selection as their "Man of the Year." The cover of the book features manager Dick Williams and some of the key players and plays of the A's drive to the 1972 World Championship, including Reggie Jackson's daring steal of home to spur the A's to their Championship Series victory, one of Gene Tenace's record-breaking four World Series homeruns and Joe Rudi's game-saving catch against the left field wall in Game Two of the Series.

This collectors item 1973 Scorecard and Souvenir Yearbook is available for $1

at all A's home games and at the A's offices on the Plaza Level of the Coliseum from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday, or by sending $1.25 to Scorecard and Souvenir Yearbook, Oakland A's, Oakland Coliseum, Oakland CA 94621.

WORLD SERIES FILM

More than 86,000 A's fans from approximately 400 different organizations throughout Northern California have already seen the 1972 World Series film that the A's are loaning at no cost.

Reservations for the 38-minute full color film, heralded as the best World Series film ever made, may be obtained by calling the A's Public Relations Office at 635-4300 at least two weeks in advance.

Jazz Concert Is Tonight At MPC

The Monterey Peninsula College Jazz Ensemble will present its annual Spring Concert at 8 p.m. tonight (Wednesday) in the College Theater under the direction of music instructor Donald Schamber.

Also featured in the concert will be guest trumpeter John Madrid and two arrangements and an original musical work by Schamber.

Madrid is a Los Angeles-based musician whose experience has included lead trumpet positions with Stan Kenton, Buddy Rich, Woody Herman and Si Zentner. He is currently playing with Louis Bellson's big band.

The trumpeter has worked many of the shows at the International Hotel in Las Vegas, in addition to being on call for record and movie recordings in Los Angeles. Madrid will also offer a free "Brass Clinic" at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, April 25, in the theater.

Madrid will be featured with the Jazz Ensemble playing "Tink's Blues," "Here's That Rainy Day," which was arranged by Schamber, "A Cake for Jake," and "Fatima" which was written by Schamber. The 27-piece ensemble will open its concert with Schamber's arrangement of the "2001" theme which he has entitled "Also Sprach Zarathustra."

Take the time to think twice before you speak—it is your best source of power.

'A Children's Hour' Is Sunday

Sunday, April 29, The Magic Carpet, Hidden Valley's Theatre for Children, will present "A Children's Hour." There will be two shows at the Hidden Valley Campus, formerly the White Oaks Theatre, one at 2:30 and another at 4 p.m.

"A Children's Hour" is a collage of stories, poems, and "things" written by local elementary school students. There will be stories from Captain Cooper School in Big Sur, Carmelo and Tulare, in Carmel Valley, River and Woods Schools in Carmel, and Manzanita School in Seaside.

Students were asked to write original stories about anything they wished, except "A Children's Hour." The stories have incredibly interesting plots and characters and should prove fascinating and encouraging to the young authors, their peers, and parents.

The Magic Carpet is very excited about "A Children's Hour." They are delighted at the response they have had and with the quality of the material. They hope to bring to life the tales, poems and jokes of the youngsters. The cast includes Debbie Berry, Big John Bristol, Gregg Fessler, June Fry, Steve Fry, Carlo Grossman, John Rousseau, and Wynn White.

Music this month will be a combination of a Putney UCS3 synthesizer, played by Robert Randles, and the percussion skill of Dave Johnson. The Magic Carpet is directed by Jim Mairs. "A Children's Hour" Sunday, April 29 at the Hidden Valley Campus, Carmel Valley Rd. at Ford Rd. Tickets are $.75 for kids under 15 and $1.25 for adults. Reservations are requested. Please call 659-3115 for more information.

Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park Reopening

Sacramento-Campsite reservations for periods after June 16 may now be made at Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park in Monterey County, the State Department of Parks and Recreation announced recently.

The department noted that the park was closed last October because of the danger of mud slides, and that several slides did occur during the fall and winter months. The access road to the park is still blocked by mud, but the lodge cabins are accessible now and can be rented. The mud will be cleaned up by June 16, the Department said, and the park will be open for both day use and camping after that date.

Reservations for one of the 198 family campsites may be made at any of the 160 Ticketron offices located throughout the State. Reservations may be made up to 90 days in advance.

Your Supervisor Reports

Roger Poyner

FT. ORD

I certainly appreciated the many responses to last week's report concerning the possible future reductions at Ft. Ord. It was gratifying to know that so many people are concerned and have written to their federal representatives. The Seaside Chamber of Commerce's resolution was followed immediately that evening by a resolution of the Seaside City Council expressing concern and questioning the necessity of so many overseas installations. Today I will be attending a briefing at Ft. Ord along with other elected officials concerning the entire situation. My congratulations to Major General Hal Moore for taking the initiative in arranging the meeting.

DOLLARS FOR YOUTH DRIVE

The City of Seaside is moving ahead in its sponsorship of a "Dollars for Youth Drive." Certainly the David Cutino Park needs restrooms and the youth of Seaside need an adequate facility for worthwhile activities. Raising $100,000 is quite an undertaking, but the citizens of Seaside have shown that they are equal to the task. I have sent in my "investment" and I hope you can also respond.

to experience massive reductions of military personnel in their locale and will cause tremendous economic hardships.

2. It is in the best interest of American economics to reduce the outflow of government spending in foreign countries and to keep it within our own Country to stimulate local demand and additional jobs.

3. America's negative balance of payments will be immediately improved by massive reductions of United States Government foreign spending on military installations and personnel.

4. The American voters have already demanded cutbacks of military personnel and spending overseas.

5. There is already an employment problem in America for the returning servicemen and the reduction of statewide American military spending is only going to further aggravate this problem.

6. It is unpatriotic to expect America's citizens and communities to suffer through economic hardships caused by state military cutbacks while foreign profiteers continue to thrive.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that we hereby unanimously propose that copies of this resolution be directed to our Government of the United States of America for immediate action and very serious consideration.

PASSED AND ADOPTED at a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of Seaside, duly held on the 19th day of April, 1973, by the following vote:

AYES, Councilmen: Ross, Coto, Olea, Mayor Dolan.

NOES, Council men: None.

ABSENT, Councilmen: Barton.

RESOLUTION NO. 73-24 RESOLUTION OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SEASIDE CALIFORNIA REGARDING OUR NATIONAL DEFENSE POSTURE

WHEREAS, the City of Seaside, California wishes to convey its concern about the proposed current military reductions and those reductions being planned in the immediate future; and

WHEREAS, we, as the elected officials representing 36,250 people, do wish to inform the President of the United States, Congress, and all responsible individuals or organizations regarding our grave concerns; and

WHEREAS, we demand that our Government of the United States of America suspend immediately all plans for reducing operations and personnel in all stateside military installations, and propose a 3-year moratorium on stateside military reductions until major reductions of overseas American military personnel and military installations have been accomplished; and, thereafter that cutbacks of stateside military installations be limited to a 10 percent reduction in any calendar year.

WHEREAS:

1. It is catastrophic to American citizens, communities, and businessmen

Bob Wood Reports

Although our paths don't cross very often, I have had a chance to get to know Attorney Evelle Younger, the Attorney General, a little better these last couple of years. Not long ago, 4 of 5 of us had an informal lunch at his office and discussed many facets of law enforcement. Recently the Attorney General has come out with some statements which I think are worth your consideration and I thought I would pass them on to you.

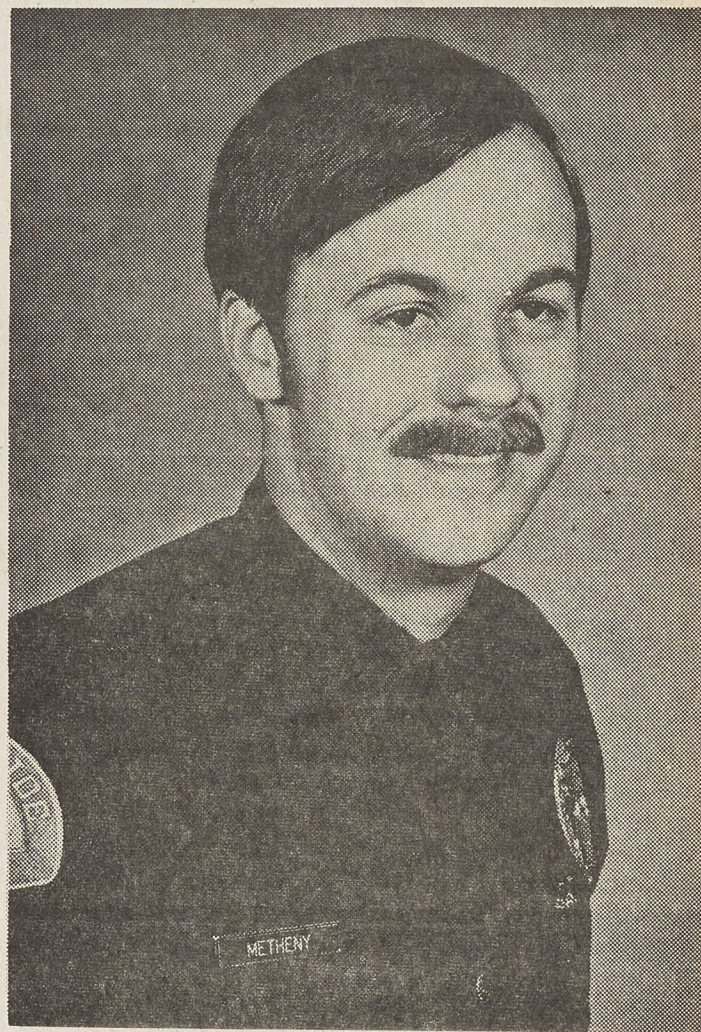

Attorney Younger said, "we don't know much about correcting human behavior. People have been assaulting, robbing, raping and killing other people for hundreds of years and apparently we don't seem to have learned much about how to make them stop." "But," Younger concluded, "while we wonder what made a man a ruthless, violent criminal, let's isolate him and make sure he isn't killing innocent people while we wonder." Younger contends from 50 percent to 70 percent of all violent crime in our society is committed by narcotic addicts trying to finance a habit, and he argues, "the first duty of any government is to protect its citizens—not to close all prisons, not to rehabilitate all criminals—the first duty is to make it safe for the law-abiding citizen to work, move about safely, enjoy his family and friends and the fruits of his labor."

Younger is admitting and defending a fact which I think many of us have recognized for a long time: prisons exist for the protection of society first, and for the rehabilitation of criminals, second.

Officer Gleen L. "Skip" Metheny

Glenn L. "Skip" Metheny was born and reared in Southern California and received his early education in the parochial schools around Long Beach. Upon graduating from high school he attended Long Beach City College majoring in Police Science. At the age of 19, Skip Metheny left college and joined the U.S. Army and entered Officers Candidate School. Upon graduation from OCS, he was assigned to the 54th MP Company at Fort Ord. After serving a tour of duty here at Ord, he was transferred to Korat Thailand as the DPM (Deputy Provost Marshal).

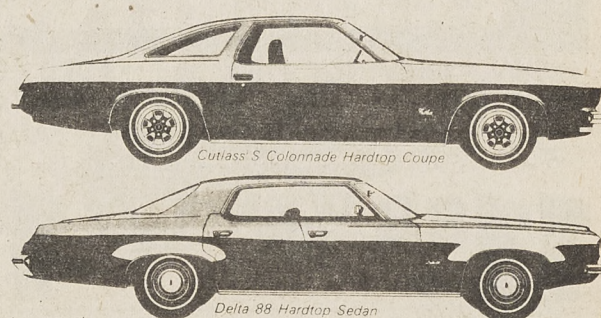

Taking his discharge from the Army in December 1969, he returned to the field of music. During High School and College Skip was involved with various groups, playing club dates and doing studio work. Four months after his discharge, Skip had put together a complete floor show and was enroute to Vietnam to entertain the military forces. After spending six months in Vietnam, he took his group to Bangkok, Thailand and then back to the U.S.A. After returning to the states, he broke up his group and returned to the states, he broke up his group and returned to Long Beach City College, still majoring in Police Science.

Longing to return to the Monterey Peninsula and wanting a career in Law Enforcement Skip joined the Seaside Police Department in November 1971. After his graduation from the Central Coast Counties Police Academy, located at Gavilan College in Gilroy, Skip has attended numerous in-service training sessions, and related classes in the field of law enforcement. He is presently enrolled in Police Science Classes at Monterey Peninsula College. Skip is working toward a BA degree in a law enforcement related field.

Off duty Skip enjoys music, electronics, photography, and woodworking. He hopes to get into some field of Law Enforcement where he can use his knowledge of electronics. It is indeed a pleasure to have a person of "Skip" Metheny's caliber associated with the Seaside Police Department.

Maybe that's why
Oldsmobile became 3rd in sales!

The more people shop and compare, the more likely they are to wind up buying new Oldsmobiles than for feature, model for model. Oldsmobile offers solid value. Compact roomy Delta 88, and luxurious Ninety. And with Oldsmobiles selling at an all-time low, you couldn't pick a better time to buy.

or someone way back then. And another potential kin, Miss Ida Polden of London, England. I just may be "someone" after all.

It is quite enlightening to thumb through ancient records. There are people listed in this Bible who were 87 years old then. Well, let us return to where we left off:

In comparing the two Bibles it was well worth the time and effort. Just one comparison: St. Mark 7:14-19.

Old (14) "And when he had called all the people unto him, he said unto them, 'Harken unto me every one of you, and understand: (15) There is nothing from without a man, that entering into him can defile him: but the things which come out of him, those are they that defile the man. (16) If any man have ears to hear, let him hear. (17) And when he was entered into the house from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable. (18) And he saith unto them, Are ye so without understanding also? Do ye not perceive, that whatsoever thing from without entereth not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught, purging all meats?"

That is what it says in Mom's Bible. Here is the modern version:

New (14) "Then Jesus called to the crowd to come and hear. All of you listen, He said, and try to understand. (15, 16) Your souls aren't harmed by what you eat, but by what you think and say! (17) Then He went into a house to get away from the crowds, and His disciples asked Him what He meant by the statement He had just made. (18) Don't you understand either? He asked. Can't you see that what you eat won't harm your soul? (19) For food doesn't come in contact with your heart, but only passes through the digestive system. (By saying this He showed that every kind of food is kosher.)"

Well, now you have it. That is the difference between the old and the new. We must say that the new is much easier to understand. I know that I for one had the wrong conception of those passages.

The new version (as I understand it) is not for sale as yet. It is titled REACH OUT. For more information you may contact Mr. Joe Weber, 440 Palm Avenue, Seaside (899-2441). There is a tab in the book reading "Take Me Home." The takers are asked to donate $1 (address on the tab) for the replacement of the book. Now that is reasonable enough for anyone.

I was going to write a column about our columnist Mel Vercoe, but I ran out of time and space. But let me say this: Mel puts down some way out things in his weekly "As I See It" column. He would like to have some reader comments also. With the variety of subjects he has tackled, surely he has stepped on someone's foot - Other than Big Brother's. Maybe one day he will come face to face with John, Spiro and Richard. Who knows, the trio may blossom into a quartet.

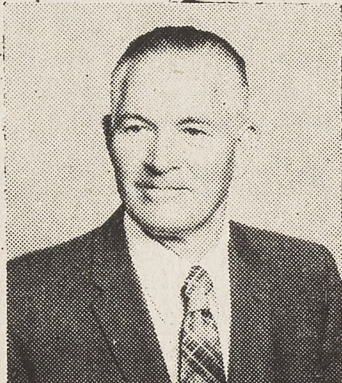

The beautiful weather we have been having has dwindled our family sick list quite a bit. Andy has been enjoying this weather to the utmost. My mother feels "almost well." Mrs. Barragan's mother is much better now, and faces are smiling, including the young children who romped all over the park last Sunday picking up Easter Eggs. Incidentally, Richard and Gabe want to thank all of the merchants who donated eggs, hotdogs, buns, and the ingredients for potato salad to feed those kids. With the price of meat today, that was a major donation. Hats off!

Altrusa Convention

At the District Eleven Conference of Altrusa International, to be held May 3-6 at Holiday Inn in Monterey, Mrs. Wesley Ogle of Seaside will serve as chairman of housing and food, and Mrs. Michael McDermott of Del Rey Oaks as co-chairman on door prizes and favors. Mrs. Cyril V. Church of Pacific Grove, the president of the local Altrusa Club, will preside as conference chairman, under the leadership of Gov. Ida Mae Kerr, a recent visitor here, from National City, California.

As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE

A couple weeks ago I could have done a dialogue between John and Martha, with Martha in the bathroom with the telephone talking to the Washington Post, and John looking for a wire cutter to disconnect the phone before she said too much, but today I can't, and I am reminded of a case I knew about personally where a lady called the school authorities to report that some children who should have been in school were having a bang-up party in an empty house nearby. Sadly enough, it turned out her own daughter was there, much to her surprise.

So now it turns out that John, himself, was one of the wheels in the Watergate bugging, and Martha's threats to name names blew back like a bucket of mop water thrown over the rail in a hurricane.

It would take a very naive observer to believe that Mr. Nixon was not aware of the whole operation. As the man in charge it was his technical responsibility to have full knowledge of everything done within the executive branch. It will be interesting indeed to find out how many of his aides are willing to take the rap without trying to lay some blame on anybody else in sight, including Mr. Nixon.

I expect one of the most disappointed faces in Washington today is that of Spiro Agnew. The probability of Spiro being elected to succeed Nixon in 1976 is virtually nonexistent, which might well have been even without Watergate. The likelihood of a Republican outside of the White House-Watergate hierarchy being elected is somewhat better, since the 60 percent who voted for Nixon to not rock the boat will be voting again in 1976 and by that time would be scared out of their wits that some liberal might shut down the war, which I expect will still be going strong three years from now.

Seasider To The SPARD Train Mechanics In Safety

By Charlene Thorson

The Seaside Parks and Recreation Department is holding the following activities for the next two weeks:

Elementary School Talent Shows: All-school tryouts for the All-City Talent Show to be held May 4 at King Junior High School. Tryouts have already been held at Ord Terrace and Manzanita Schools; tryouts will be held at the other elementary schools on the following schedule: Del Rey Woods, Wednesday, April 25, 3:30 p.m.; Highland, Wednesday, April 25, 4 p.m.; Noche Buena, Thursday, April 26, 3 p.m.; Cabrillo, Friday, April 27, 3 p.m.; and Covell, Friday, April 27, 4 p.m. Three winning acts are being selected at each school to perform in the final show.

Track: Playground leaders at all the elementary schools are now preparing their participants for the All-City Track Meet to be held at Seaside High School on Saturday, May 5. All children interested in this program should contact their local recreation leader after school, from 3-5 p.m.

through their nationwide program of Raybestos technical clinics.

Hufford added, "These brake service clinics also serve to help relieve the mechanic shortage."

Automotive safety has become a high-priority concern and one businessman in this community is doing something about it.

On April 30, 1973, Dave Hufford will host a Raybestos Brake Service Clinic for more than 50 area automotive mechanics at Lacey Automotive Parts and Machine located at 786 Broadway Avenue, Seaside. The program will begin at 8 p.m.

The purpose of this technical session is to update mechanic skills in the demanding field of brake system service. "Braking performance is an extremely important area of automotive safety," Dave Hufford, manager of Lacey Automotive Parts and Machine emphasized. "This Raybestos brake clinic will expose our area automotive mechanics to new developments in brake design and brake service techniques."

Raybestos, a major manufacturer of brake lining materials used on automobile brake shoes and disc brakes, has sponsored brake service clinics regularly since 1926. Almost 30,000 mechanics a year are kept abreast of new brake system service techniques and safety developments
